Cotton-Middlings, 81 to 82. Agricultural Liens for sale at this office

The guano combination couldn't stand

The farmers in this County are giving as any liens as usual.

A lively business is going on among the lored people in the matrimonial line. Capt. J. J. Fretwell and wife returned ome on Tuesday evening last after an ab-nce of two weeks. Mr. J. B. Neal sent us some mammoth arnips on Monday last, for which he will

We would call attention to the advertisenent of Messrs. Todd & Hahn, Architects nd Builders. These young gentlemen are xperts in their business, and persons ontemplating building will do well to con-

The crowd in town on Monday was the argest that has assembled here for a long line, and the order throughout the day was emarkably good. A few tracts of land was old by the Sheriff, all of which brought own time. By his death sorrow is carried

The Town Council has decided to build a new Market House, to be situated a short distance south of the old one. It will have five or six stalls, which will be rented out to parties desiring to furnish the town with resh ment.

The entertainment on the 14th inst. for the benefit of Anderson Division is attractelection. We hope a large number of our itizens will attend.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. George Wilson, which occurred at his resience near Craytonville, in this County, on last Saturday night, after a severe illness of everal weeks. Mr. Wilson was sixty-six ears of age at the time of his death, and was an excellent and industrious citizen. His death is regretted by all who knew him.

The Etiwan Phosphate, for which Messrs. Sullivan & Co. are the agents, is one of the best fertilizers manufactured. The satisfaction which it has heretofore given places it n the front rank of commercial fertilizers, and those contemplating using guano for cotton, corn or other crops, would do well to call on Messrs, Sullivan & Co. for terms,

The down train did not reach this place on Saturday last until about 3 o'clock in the after oon. The delay was caused by the running off of the up train a few miles onth of Pendleton on the evening previous, replaced on the track until the next morning. The train reached Belton just in time to make connection with the train to Green-

We would call attention to the reduction in the price of guano as announced in the advertisement of Messrs. Bleckloy, Brown & Co., which appears elsewhere. They sall the well-known and popular Wando and Carolina brands. The cotton option price of the Wando is now the same as it was last year. Farmers wishing to purchase will find the standard of these brands fully up to what they have hitherto been.

The public, especially farmers, are reques ted to call on Reed & Stephens, carriage nanufacturers of this place, who have improved their working force and are now repared to do all kinds of plantation work, besides repair work, which they have long been known to do in the best manner. They still keep a stock of their vehicles on the times.

Parties wishing to purchase or procure further information as to it can do so by calling on Mr. J. E. Peoples, the agent for this place, who will take great pleasure in giving terms, &c.

Mr. N. A. McCully, the efficient cotton weigher at this place informs us that during the month of January past there were 1488 bales of cotton shipped from this depot against 904 for the same month of 1878. This shows an increase in the trade of Anderson for January, 1879, of 584 bales over that of January, 1878. This swells the aggregate number of bales received at the depot at this place during the present season to 11,820 against 7,012 for the same period last year, showing an increase in the receipts in favor of this year of 4,228 bales. The people of the surrounding country have discovered that Anderson is the best and safest market for supplies and dry goods.

Circuit Court. The February term of the Circuit Court for this County will convene on next Mon-day week, Judge T. B. Fraser presiding. The criminal side of the Court will be occupied for several days, for the most part on unimportant cases, and it is likely the civil business will occupy the remainder of the time allowed. The following persons will constitute the Grand Jury for the present year: Messrs. G. H. Richey, Oliver McKee, C. S. Milford, J. H. Hendrix, R. J. Pool, W. G. Smith, Andrew Patterson, Aris Cox, O. P. Byrum, J. R. Pennell, L. W. Gentry, Eddie Telford, J. T. Towns, W. G. Watson, Joseph B. Moore, John Crews, J. D. Johnson, J. G. McCurry. The following will constitute the Petit

In accordance with the published call for a meeting of the farmers of Anderson ing considerable attention, and bids fair to County at Anderson Court House on last be a pleasant occasion. The most attractive | Monday to take into consideration the accature of the evening will be the preference tion of the manufacturers of commercial phosphates, by which they had combined to raise the cotton option price of fertilizers. a large crowd assembled in the Masonic Hall at twelve o'clock, and organized by electing Col. Thomas H. Russell President and Col. R. W. Simpson Secretary.

Hon. W. C. Brown moved that a committee of one from each township be appointed to consider and report upon all resolutions which should be brought before

Pending the consideration of the resolution Col. E. M. Rucker addressed the meeting and urged the importance of a combination of the agricultural interests of the country to resist the encroachments of monopolists, and secure for the farmer that consideration and protection to which-he is entitled. During his speech Col. Rucker was frequently cheered, and at its conclusion Maj. George W. Maret spoke in favor of the resolution, taking the ground that the present prices of fertilizers would be ruinous to those who use them, and that the meeting should do something to secure the damaged cars not being repaired and unity of action among the farmers of this and surrounding countles.

Dr. Brown's resolution was then adopted, and the following committee was appointed under it:

Brushy Creek, J. Jameson; Garvin, John Newton; Pendleton, W. W. Russell; Fork, G. W. Maret; Williamston, Dr. John Wilson; Hopewell, M. B. Williams; Centreville, J. Belton Watson; Rock Mills, Joseph Caldwell ; Belton, Dr. W. C. Brown ; Broadaway, L. E. Campbell; Anderson, E. M. Rucker; Varennes, L. E. Stevenson; Sa-Wm. Jones; Honea Path, R. N. Wright; Martin, James Drake; Hall, J. P. McGee; Corner, Dr. J. H. Reid. Hon. R. W. Simpson and W. W. Russell.

Esq., offered resolutions, which were read and referred to the committee, and Colonel Simpson spoke with earnestness upon the subject, expressing himself in favor of repealing all of the phosphate rights , anted away by the State, and entering upon and using them upon such conditions as to preent the exportation of this valuable mine of State wealth, which, under the present system, was being rapidly removed from the State at a mere song. He was in favor m it of Navassa Guano, which appears in of the State manufacturing commercial fer-another column. This brand has been used tilizers and furnishing it to the planters of by many of our farmers, and has been proven to be a most excellent manure. Spoke of the immense opposition which spoke of the immense opposition which would come from those now engaged in the manufacture of phosphates to such a proposition, and urged the plante to make a strong and vigorous fight for it, assuring them that in the end they would succeed, and reap the great advantages to be derived from such a course. He told them that ceasing to use these phosphates for the present season might reduce the price some, but that the companies now engaged in the manufacture of these phosphates have a demand outside of the State for more than they can supply, and therefore the only permanent remedy for the monopoly is State interference.

At the conclusion of his remarks, which were frequently applauded, Col. Simpson was, by motion, added to the committee, which then retired into one of the rooms to prepare the report.

During this absence, Maj. E. B. Murray, by invitation, addressed the meeting, and spoke of the combination of manufacturers showing a disposition to control the price of fertilizers by other means than the rules which regulate the common business of life, and the result of this action in the Augusta meeting was to fix an arbitrary value on guano when paid in cotton, and to remove that healthful competition which is regulated by supply and demand. He thought the combinations which are entered into by capital in the commercial centres was the source of much loss and hardship to producers generally. The reduction of the eash price of fertilizers and increasing the cotton option price was of very little consequence to the planter, as nine-tenths of them buy on the cotton option plan, and therefore could not avail themselves of cash rates. He expressed himself as op-posed to the State engaging in manufactur-ing as a general rule, but said that unless the guano companies recede from their un warranted exactions in this matter he would favor the State entering into the manufacture of commercial fertilizers, and by competition forcing these companies to come

The committee on resolutions then made the following report, which was unani-mously adopted, after remarks from Capt. W. D. Evins, who spoke in favor of it, claiming that he had advocated these views for a long time past:

at least what it was last year, the consumers be advised not to purchase a single pound, and in the future unaninously and earnestly resist any attempt on the part of guano manufacturers or others to extent from the farmer ruinous prices for their productions.

motion returned to the Masonic fraternity for the use of their Hail. The proceeding were ordered to be published in the Ander son, Columbia and Charleston papers, and the meeting adjourned subject to the call of

The Hall was crowded, and the uttermost enthusiasm prevailed. It was evident from the sentiment manifested throughout the County that the people did not intend to use phosphates to any extent without the agreement in the Augusta Convention was cancelled. If the companies are wise they will restore their prices for cotton option to last year's rates, for if they do not they will find that a strong influence will be brought to bear to secure State manufacture, and than they have done heretofore. The meeting was temperate but determined, and it will no doubt have a beneficial effect.

The Laws of Rent.

MR. EDITOR: A little sad experience within the last few weeks, her convinced me that some improvement on our rent laws is absolutely essential to the future prosperity of our country. Under the slave labor system the question was one of mino importance, but under the present changed condition of our labor system, becomes a question of the highest importance, that the mutual rights and duties of the tenant system should be so plain, so simple, so effec tive and so cheap, that a resort to litigation would scarcely ever be necessary. In order to attain this end, the first step that ought to be taken by the Legislature is to extend the jurisdiction of Trial Justices so as to embrace all farm rents, even to the sum of five hundred dollars, or more if necessary. To do this it would be necessary to make said courts a court of record, where all rent and labor contracts for each township should be filed. The propriety of said change can be seen almost at a glance.

Take a case: A renter, in whom the landlord had the utmost confidence, on the plea of getting a better price for his cotton, takes his entire crop to Greenville, sells cut, puts his money in his pocket and runs away. There is still a portion of the crop left, the corn, cotton seed, &c., but it had been removed to another farm than the one or which the crop was grown, with numerous smaller creditors than the landlord. The question at once arises, does the removal of the crop from the farm on which it was grown abate or modify one iota of the landlord's rights? If it does, of course, if the rent is even a hundred dollars, while he is gone to the Court House to obtain the necessary papers, other creditors with smaller claims may, in a much shorter time, get an attachment, and to that extent put the landlord to a disadvantage. Then again, the proceedings in such a case, as the law now stands, would cost probably five times as much as the same kind of process would cost in a magistrate's court.

There is another question of perhaps far greater magnitude, in the case supposed, which is, does the homestead apply, and, if so, to what extent? These and other questions which would naturally suggest themselves, in the case supposed, demands thorough investigation, and the next Legislature, if the late act does not cover the ground, should make the necessary amend-A FARMER.

Townville. Mr. Zachariah Felton, who was born and reared in this County, and who was favorably known to many of your readers, died recently at his home near Cartersville, Ga. where he had resided since 1872. Mr. Felton was a citizen of the Fork for many years, was never married and had nearly reached three score and ten years of age at his death. He was a near kinsman of the present Congressmen Felton, of Georgia..... Mr. Perry B. Palmer, an industrious young farmer of this township, cut his foot with an axe so severely lately as that he will be unable to work on his farm for several months A Union meeting of the Saiuda Baptist Association will be held in the Bap-tist Church here, embracing the fifth Sun-during sixteen consecutive years There are no colored schools in the Fork at present, and not much likelihood of there being any this year.

Sandy Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dickson recently celebrated their "golden wedding." A goodly number of relatives and friends were present to partake of the splendid dinner. Mr. Dickson is 80 years old, very lively and cheerful, and enjoys good health. He has been one of our most successful and scientific farmers, and yet controls with great success his extensive farming business. Mrs. Dickson is 70 years old, in splendid health, and more active than many of the young ladies of our country.We feel happy in announcing that our esteemed neighbor, Mr. T. L. Reid, has almost entirely recovered from his serious hurt which he received during the Christmas holidays by an accidental slip-up on the ice Several new residences are being built in our community. Mr. W. G. Smith and customers. is building a neat and pretty little cottage in sight of the Camp Ground; Mr. John McPhail is building a neat little house near Sandy Springs, and Mr. W. A. G. Mc Whorter is preparing to build a fine residence at his place near Bird's crossing..... Our schools are very well attended. Sandy Springs Academy has 61 pupils—Mr. W. T. McElroy principal, with Mr. H. H. Elrod as assistant. Pendleton Academy has 35 pupils—Mr. Neill McAulay principal. Deep-Creek Academy has 25 pupils—Mr. W. G Bowden is principal.......Pendleton is a re-markable little town in many respects, but in one thing, politically, it is now very re-markable, viz.: there is not a man, white or colored, residing even in the suburbs of the town who is not a member of the Dem
